Historical Sketch

The El Paso Times began publication in the spring of 1881 as a weekly newspaper operated by M.W. Carrico & Co. It became a daily paper in 1882 and added Associated Press wire service in 1883. After changing hands several times, the Times was purchased from H. D. Slater in 1928 by Dorrance Roderick and Lindsay Nunn. Nunn sold his interest in 1930, and Dorrance Roderick was the publisher even after the newspaper became part of the Gannett chain in 1972. The Times had a joint operating agreement with the El Paso Herald-Post, an afternoon newspaper, from 1936 until 1997, when the Herald-Post ceased operation. In 2018, the Times was still owned by the Gannett Co., and the El Paso Times was the only English-language daily in the El Paso area.

Series Description or Arrangement

Box one contains files on prominent El Paso individuals, arranged alphabetically. Boxes contain folders on various persons/subjects; arrangement is alphabetical.

Scope and Content Notes

Contains clipping files, photographic prints, negatives, correspondence, press releases, pamphlets, and other publications. Subjects include El Paso streets, historical events, El Paso businesses, military affairs on the U.S.-Mexico border, points of interest in the El Paso area, newspaper publishing in El Paso, and individuals, including, among others, José Cisneros, S.L. A. Marshall, R. E. Thomason, and Mabel Welch.

Provenance Statement

Materials were purged from the El Paso Times Library's clipping files in their library, at which point the librarian, Judy Soles, offered the discards to Ann Massmann, Acting Head of Special Collections, UTEP Library.

Restrictions

None

Literary Rights Statement

Permission to publish material from the El Paso Times subject files, MS265, must be obtained from the C. L. Sonnichsen Special Collections Department, the University of Texas at El Paso Library.
