Biography or Historical Sketch

A teacher, writer, suffragist, and political activist, Belle Christie Ferguson Critchett (March 9, 1867 – January 6, 1956), supported and promoted many progressive era-issues of the time, including women's suffrage and the legal status of women, good citizenship and political reform, maternal health and child welfare, prison reform, prohibition, and the peace movement. When she was two years old Critchett moved to the United States from Perthshire, Scotland with her family. The Ferguson family settled in Clinton, Iowa where Critchett and her brothers attended school. After the death of her father, Critchett moved to Denver, Colorado with her family, and she became a teacher in Pueblo and later in Denver. Around 1900 Critchett married Otis A. Critchett (1876? – 1950?), a chemist, metallurgist, and assayer. The Critchetts moved to El Paso in 1902 where they lived at 1515 Montana Street. In El Paso Otis Critchett, along with Belle Critchett's brother, George Ferguson (1872 – 1940), owned and ran Critchett & Ferguson, also known as the Custom Assay Office. Following the death of her only child, Otis Adams, jr., Critchett concentrated on her civic, political, and church work.

Highly-independent and passionate about women's rights, Critchett participated in the El Paso Equal Franchise League and served as president in 1917. In 1918 she ran for a position on the El Paso school board as the only female candidate. After the passage of the 19th Amendment in 1920, Critchett became a charter member of the El Paso League of Women Voters and was elected as its president for 1926. During the 1920s and 1930s she held various leadership positions: president of the El Paso Home for Girls, publicity chairman of the local chapter of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, member of the El Paso Joint Legislative Council, and corresponding secretary of the First Presbyterian Women's Auxiliary for eight years. Through her political and civic work Critchett attended several state and national League of Women Voters conferences and collected many pamphlets, articles, and other publications relating to women's suffrage. In addition to these activities, she wrote to many local and national political figures, such as R.E. Thomason, R.M. Dudley, Herbert Hoover, and Ramsay MacDonald, to support women's rights and other reform issues. Also an essayist and published poet, Critchett's poems often appeared in the El Paso Times and other publications throughout the 1930s. In 1934 she wrote an article on the history of the El Paso chapter of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, as part of a book on the Texas Union's history. And in 1935, the Anthology of Magazine Verse chose Critchett's poem "Voices" for inclusion in their annual publication. The following year the Texas Book of Poets included her poem "Co-operation." Critchett's other interests included vocal and instrumental music and working with children.

Scope and Content Notes

The Belle Christie Critchett papers date 1915 – 1968, bulk 1918 – 1935. Types of records include correspondence, clippings, publications and other printed material, maps, posters, songs, a glass lantern slide, and photographs. Original clippings were photocopied and discarded due to their extremely poor condition, except when noted in the container list. Additionally, some whole newspapers were in such poor condition that they were unable to be photocopied and were disposed of – the title and date of these newspapers are listed in the Notes to the Researcher. Arranged in five series (Biographical information, Writing career, League of Women Voters and other women's suffrage material, Prison reform material, and Other reform issues), these papers document Critchett's life and career in El Paso, her involvement in the women's suffrage movement, the League of Women Voters, and participation in other civic and political causes and organizations.

The Biographical information series covers Critchett's life, personal correspondence, and includes a photograph and articles on her and her family. The Writing career series consists of her poems and essays, and correspondence pertaining to the publication of her works. The League of Women Voters and other women's suffrage material series documents the women's suffrage movement from the 1910s to the 1930s, the history and activities of the El Paso League of Women Voters, and the activities of the state and national League of Women Voters organizations. This series also contains various souvenirs, articles, and publications of the League of Women Voters and the suffrage movement. The Prison reform series includes correspondence, clippings, and publications relating to reforming the Texas penitentiary system and prisoner rights. The Other reform issues series covers topics such as the world peace movement after World War I, education, city beautification, social hygiene, racism, government corruption, and good citizenship. This series contains correspondence, clippings, and publications.

Due to their extremely poor condition, some whole newspapers were unable to be photocopied and were discarded:

- Des Moines Capital, April 11, 1922 (probably saved for article on Herbert Hoover)
- El Paso Times, May 2, 1925 (Note on top of front page states: Sketch of Mayor Dudley's life)
- The Christian Science Monitor, April 15, 1926 (probably saved for article "Leaders at St. Louis of Convention of National League of Women Voters")
- El Paso Times, July 16, 1927 (probably saved for article on Lucretia Mott and women suffrage; article was able to be cut out of newspaper and photocopied)
- El Paso Times, Sunday Magazine, June 11, 1967 (probably saved for article on North family camping trip; article was able to be cut out of newspaper and photocopied)

Separated material consists of a legal-size box of duplicate publications and other duplicate items.
