Biographical Sketch

Jean Carl Hertzog, book designer, typographer, and printer, was born in Lyons, France, on February 8, 1902. His father, Carl Showalter Hertzog, a music instructor, and his mother, Margaret Frost McElroy Hertzog, a teacher, met in Hiram, Ohio. Shortly after they were married, the Hertzogs moved to Europe where Carl's father toured France as a violinist.

When he was two years old, Carl and his family moved to Albuquerque, where his father was employed as a music instructor at the University of New Mexico. Due to the increasing deterioration of his father's health, the Hertzogs moved back to Hiram, Ohio, where Carl Showalter Hertzog died of tuberculosis in 1905.

While teaching school, the widowed Margaret Hertzog met, and later married, Chester Bradstreet Story, a high school English teacher. Although the family moved several times within the city, Carl Hertzog spent most of his childhood in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania.

Carl's first experience with typography and printing came when he was nine years old. Chester Story, his stepfather, bought Carl his first small hand press and case of type. Hertzog began experimenting with typesetting and soon landed his first job as an errand boy in a neighborhood print shop.

In 1919, Carl Hertzog graduated from Wilkinsburg Public High School in Wilkinsburg, Pennsylvania. He attended the U.S. Naval Academy at Annapolis, Maryland, and later studied printing at the Carnegie Technical Institute in Pittsburgh where he was influenced by Porter Garnett.

At the age of twenty-one, Carl Hertzog began working for the Owl Printing Shop, a small commercial printing firm in Wheeling, West Virginia. Later that year, Hertzog answered an advertisement in the trade journal, the Inlander Press, which brought him to El Paso as a printer for W.S. McMath & Company. While working his way up to shop foreman, Hertzog wrote and edited for a variety of trade journals including, Printing Plus, the McMath Company's in-house publication.

During the next few years, Carl Hertzog occupied a variety of positions in the printing and advertising fields. Hertzog left the W.S. McMath Company in 1926 to become advertising manager for El Paso Sash & Door Company, where he spent four years promoting Premier Standardized Woodwork. In 1930, Hertzog joined the Rocky Mountain Bank Note Company as a full-time printer and learned lithography. Hertzog returned to McMath Company in 1932 where he worked for two years before opening his own print shop, The Press of Carl Hertzog.

In 1937, Hertzog met an aspiring young artist named Tom Lea with whom he produced several famous titles. By the 1940s, Hertzog's reputation as a typographer and designer was well established, and a variety of people sought his services in producing specialized books, usually in very limited quantities. Under his own imprint, Hertzog worked with a number of celebrated authors and well-known illustrators including J. Evetts Haley, Frank Dobie, C. L. Sonnichsen, Jose Cisneros, Harold Bugbee, and E. M. Schiwetz.

Hertzog went into partnership with Dale Resler, a prominent El Paso businessman, with the purchase of the Guynes Printing Company in 1944. The commercial printing company had thirty-five employees and specialized in advertising, typography, and book design. The business was sold in 1947.

After gaining experience with commercial printing and managing his own printing shop, Hertzog accepted a position teaching at the Texas College of Mines and

Metallurgy, later known as Texas Western College. (In 1967, Texas Western College became the University of Texas at El Paso.)

In 1948, Hertzog became a lecturer in the Art, English, Advertising, and Journalism departments at the Texas College of Mines. "Bookology" and "The World of Books" were courses taught by Carl Hertzog. Hertzog offered students the chance to create individual works as well as collaborative class projects. The most notable of these class projects was done for the book, The Spanish Heritage of the Southwest, printed in 1952. The book was handset by the students under the direction of Hertzog.

During this same period, Hertzog founded the college print shop that later became Texas Western Press. Along with producing regional literary projects, Hertzog was also responsible for the College's printing needs, which included revising the college catalog, creating programs for various departments, and producing special tributes, letterhead, and bulletins for Texas Western College. Hertzog's directorship of Texas Western Press also marked the production of "Southwestern Studies," a college press quarterly publication, which began in 1963. Hertzog retired as director of Texas Western Press in 1972.

Carl Hertzog was the recipient of many accolades and awards throughout his lifetime including the Culture Achievement Award from the West Texas Chamber of Commerce (1968). The printer held Honorary Degrees from Baylor University (1967) and Southern Methodist University (1971), as well as life memberships to the Texas Historical Association, the Philosophical Society of Texas, and the American Institute of Graphic Arts. Hertzog was a member of the El Paso County Historical Society Hall of Honor and the Texas Institute of Letters.

Despite the demands of his printing projects, Hertzog produced exhibits on book design. He also spoke about this and other topics to the El Paso community and also to various professional organizations throughout Texas. The most notable of his book exhibits was, "What It Takes to Make a Book." ~~A portion of this exhibit, "The Making of a Book," is now housed on the first floor of the UTEP library.~~

In addition to Hertzog's involvement in civic associations such as the Rotary Club of El Paso and the Board of Directors of the El Paso Public Library, Carl Hertzog was a square dance caller. In 1938, Hertzog wrote, "Honor Your Partner," a booklet of square dance calls published in London.

Although Carl Hertzog retired in 1972, he had an office in the Special Collections Department of the University Library where he organized and arranged his rare book collection and personal papers. During this time, Hertzog continued to answer questions and advise fellow printers, authors, illustrators, and book collectors who solicited his services for special projects.

Carl Hertzog died at his home in El Paso on July 24, 1984. He was eighty-two years old. He was survived by his wife, Vivian (Boddeker) Hertzog and son, Carl Hertzog, Jr., both of whom are now also deceased. During the fifty years that Carl Hertzog lived in El Paso, he produced more than 300 works.

Provenance

In 1970, the University Library purchased the Carl Hertzog Papers. In turn, Hertzog agreed to donate his library of books, many of which are referred to in the J. Carl Hertzog Papers. The collection is the result of two accessions. The first accession of 26 boxes, received in 1970, consisted of Hertzog's office working files. The second accession of 27 boxes, received in 1989, consisted of material from Carl Hertzog's home office. The material from the second accession was integrated into the existing filing system of the first accession. The original manuscript number for this collection was number 540.

Arrangement

The papers of J. Carl Hertzog are arranged into the following series:

- PERSONAL PAPERS
- PROFESSIONAL ACTIVITIES
- GENERAL CORRESPONDENCE
- PROJECTS
- EPHEMERA
- SUBJECT FILES

Scope and content

The papers document Carl Hertzog's professional activities from 1921 to 1984 and sections of his personal life from birth to middle age. The majority of the papers reflect Hertzog's general business affairs regarding printing requests, project designs, and material acquisition. The correspondence in the personal papers series contains a description of Hertzog's family and childhood. As a whole, the papers create an overall view of Hertzog's professional activities as a printer, typographer, and book designer.

The Personal Papers series (1901-1984) contains family correspondence, awards, financial papers, photographs, writings, genealogical information, and clippings. The series includes a series of letters between Hertzog and his mother, Margaret Story, from 1918 until her death in 1936.

The photographs in the Personal Papers document Hertzog throughout his life. Carl Hertzog's baby book offers unique photographs complete with written descriptions by his mother. Also, there are several formal portraits of Hertzog and images of various family members in the sub-series.

In addition to photographs and family correspondence, Carl Hertzog's notes and writings can be found in the Personal Papers. Hertzog's 1923-1924 journal offers a typewritten account of his personal life during his early twenties, including his courtship of Vivian Boddecker [Hertzog].

The Professional Activities series (1921-1984) begins with Hertzog's resume from 1924 and financial material describing the Hertzog and Resler Printing Company. The series continues with the "morgue" scrapbook, which provides comprehensive coverage of Hertzog's early years as a printer. Hertzog started the scrapbook as a student in 1921 at the Carnegie Institute of Technology. The book offers continuous documentation of Hertzog's career with printing samples from the McMath Company and El Paso Sash and Door. The morgue includes unique material such as broadsides and pamphlets created by the printer as well as reviews and articles written by Carl Hertzog for various trade journals from the 1920s and 1930s.

The majority of the material in the Professional Activities series documents Hertzog's role as director of Texas Western Press and lecturer of typography and book design at Texas Western College (UTEP). Material includes correspondence, ephemera, teaching material, tape recordings of lectures, speeches, and information on various book design exhibits. Limited financial records from the Texas Western Press consist of budgets, proposals, and invoices. This series also contains the agreement and several book lists concerning the Carl Hertzog Rare Book Collection at the University Library.

The General Correspondence series (1922-1985) documents Hertzog's relations with various material distributors, bookbinders, "pressmen," bibliographers, librarians, archivists, politicians, book collectors, publishers, historians, artists, and editors who often became personal friends. Due to the variety of issues discussed throughout the material, the series represents a mixture of personal and business correspondence. Much of the general correspondence is accompanied by Carl Hertzog's notes jotted in the margins, some of which were added at the time the letter was written, and some years later as Hertzog went through his papers. Prominent correspondents include Bailey H. Carroll, José Cisneros, Frank Dobie, Porter Garnett, Fred Goudy, J. Evetts Haley, Houston Harte, William Holman, Peter Hurd, Alfred Knopf, Tom Lea, Al Lowman, Stanley Marcus, Watt Matthews, J.A.R. Mosely, William Ransom, Fannie Ratchford, C.L. Sonnichsen, Robert Sparkman, and Walter Prescott Webb.

The General Correspondence files are arranged alphabetically by last names of correspondent or institutional affiliation and then chronologically within folders. However, the general correspondence series does not reflect a strictly incoming and outgoing filing system. Many of the files contain subject material such as clippings and correspondence that pertain to a different individual than the name on the file. This is in keeping with Hertzog's filing system. Folder titles were transcribed from the original folders. The correspondence found in the second accession was integrated into the original filing structure of the first accession.

Some cross-reference notes, written by Hertzog, can be found in the General Correspondence series. The references represent Hertzog's attempt to index the correspondence files in his later years. Indexing was never completed and therefore the cross references are not extensive or consistent. Due to the informational value of the references, all notes were kept intact. Also notations made on the outside of folders were photocopied and placed inside the file.

The Projects series (1924-1979) offers the most comprehensive description of Carl Hertzog's printing work. The projects, arranged alphabetically, reflect the original order of Hertzog's working files. However, the arrangement of the folders within the projects is based on an inception-to-completion order, which was decided by the archivist.

Material within the Projects series consists of correspondence, dummies, galleys, proofs, original sketches, manuscripts, project scrapbooks, photographs, dust covers, publicity announcements and newspaper clippings. Miscellaneous files consist of dust covers, incomplete proofs, notes and other disparate material. Most of the projects contain detailed correspondence between Hertzog and authors, illustrators, publishers, and bookbinders. It is in this way that many sub-series resemble mini-journals of matters discussed and decisions made regarding various projects.

The King Ranch is the most thoroughly documented project in the series. Material ranges from extensive correspondence to metal press plates to progressive color proofs of various illustrations.

Summary notebooks and distribution lists can also be found in the Projects series. These notebooks offer a wealth of information regarding the expenses of each project. They also include distribution lists detailing individuals who received free copies and the prices that people paid for certain works.

The Ephemera series (1937-1969) consists of two sub-series: ephemera created by Carl Hertzog and ephemera created by others. Material is arranged alphabetically. Often, the series contains only the product itself; there is little or no material documenting the production of the ephemera.

The ephemera created by Carl Hertzog include his personal letterhead, envelopes, and greeting cards. There are booklets and broadsides created for organizations such as The Rounce and Coffin Club, the King Ranch, the El Paso Public Library, and others. General ephemeral products created by the printer include a mélange of material ranging from award certificates to letterhead to tributes.

The second sub-series, ephemera by others, consists of examples of fine printing arranged under a specific press, individual, or category. Like the general correspondence and project series, the ephemera series reflects the titles on Hertzog's working files. Book announcements, printing material catalogs, paper samples, press plates, type specimens, and type foundries' advertisements are also contained in this series.

The Subject series consists of pamphlets, catalogs, newspaper clippings, and secondary research publications. The archivist created the series to bring together various and sundry research and topical files. Carl Hertzog's original folder headings are noted by quotation marks.

Much of the material within the Subject series pertains to those people with whom Hertzog had a professional relationship. Subsequently, original sketches, manuscripts, and publications of Tom Lea, Jose Cisneros, J. Evetts Haley, and Frank Dobie can be found in the subject series.

For further information on Carl Hertzog see the Hertzog Rare Book Collection located in the Hertzog Room at the C. L. Sonnichsen Special Collection Department of the UTEP Library. See also the following papers held by the C. L. Sonnichsen Special Collections Department: Haldeen Braddy, Francis Fugate, Jose Cisneros, Joseph Ray, William Henry Hutchinson, C. L. Sonnichsen, Rex Strickland, John Waller, and Owen Payne White.

The exhibit "The Making of A Book" is located on the first floor of the UTEP Library. Printer at the Pass by Al Lowman offers a bibliography of Carl Hertzog's books and selected ephemera from 1932-1970.

General Preservation Notes

Certain preservation measures have been performed within the collection to stabilize the materials and preserve the information. The second page of "NCR" paper, thermal fax sheets, and deteriorating acidic paper were photocopied onto acid-free paper. Correspondence on acidic paper with original signatures or Hertzog's handwritten notes has been retained and placed in Mylar to reduce acid migration.
