Historical Sketch

Hotel Dieu Hospital or the "Sisters' Hospital" started when Father Ferrari asked Mother Marianna Flynn from Visitatrix of the Community of the Daughters of Charity at St. Joseph's Central House in Emmitsburg, Maryland about training nurses. Subsequently, the Sisters were asked to open and staff a hospital in order to care for patients in the El Paso area.

Four Sisters, Sister Stella Dempsy, Sister Dolores Eggert, Sister Genevieve Hennessy, and Sister Vincent Lee, arrived on February 3, 1892. They briefly lived in a home at 1015 East Overland Street, a two-story building rented for the Sisters by Father Ferrari. The first location of the Hotel Dieu Hospital was small and considered unsatisfactory to both patients and the public. The Sisters were urged to move to another location, so they moved to the Dieter Home at 415 Upson Avenue during March 1892.

The Dieter Home was a temporary location for the Hotel Dieu Hospital. The Sisters secured bank loans and formed a corporation on June 28, 1892 that helped fund the construction and maintenance of a hospital in El Paso. The new property for Hotel Dieu Hospital was purchased on July 2, 1892. It was located at Stanton and Rio Grande streets. At this time, the Hotel Dieu Hospital was given a horse drawn ambulance.

The Hotel Dieu School of Nursing opened in 1898. The Hotel Dieu School of Nursing began as a small training school, but due to increases in enrollment, the training school moved across the street from Hotel Dieu Hospital on August 1, 1917. During World War II, Hotel Dieu Hospital was designated as an Emergency Base Hospital until the end of the war.

The Hotel Dieu Hospital and School of Nursing were successful, and an increasing number of physicians with varying specialties moved to El Paso.

The Hotel Dieu School of Nursing later "merged with the University of Texas system School of Nursing in 1972 and, when the system was divided, it became the University of Texas College of Nursing in El Paso."

Hotel Dieu Hospital closed in December 1987.
